GLENDALE CREDITS

TWO BOYS OF THIS CITY GRADUATE WITH HONORS AT THROOP COLLEGE OF TECHNOLOGY

About fifty persons from Glendale attended the commencement exercises at Throop College of Technology held on the college campus yesterday afternoon. A large audience from Pasadena and surrounding towns assembled in spite of threatening skies, and the veiling of the sun proved an advantage.

The class, which is called "The War Class," included seventeen young men. Seventeen others who would have graduated with them had they remained at home, are now serving the colors and of this number are Homer Bullard of this city and Paul Scherer, son of the president of the college. The very fine address to the graduates was made by President Scherer, his theme being, "The College Man of Tomorrow." The prayer was offered by Bishop Joseph H. Johnson.

An item of great interest to Glendale in connection with the event was the honors won by Glendale boys. H. Darwin Kirshman, who was graduated from Glendale Union High, won the Du Pont Scholarship in Chemistry, and to Captain Eugene Imler (graduated as Doctor of Science) was given the credit of the highest rank in his class for the four years of his course, his record showing 485 out of a possible 500 points. Captain Imler and three of his classmates are to leave September 25th for Alfredvale Camp at Little Silver, New Jersey, their orders reading "for active service," from which they reason that they are likely to be sent overseas right away. The Captain will therefore be with his family only ten days more, and his mother feels doubly bereaved as her daughter Margery leaves tonight for Berkeley.

Many Glendalians motored to Pasadena yesterday to enjoy the exercises, the list including Mrs. Adelaide Imler, Miss Cora Hickman, Miss MargeryImler, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery and daughter Waunita, Catherine Phillips, Esther Shremp, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Engelhart of Brawley, Miss Hilda Englehart, Misses Nellie Sharp and Emma Hagerty of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell, Mrs. Frank I. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. Percy Priaulx and party of friends, Dr. and Miss Dorothy Hunt and party, which included Miss Hahn and Miss Grace Shropshire, Robert Taylor, Berna Martin, Miss Nan Anderson, Collie E. Kinney and Mrs. I. J. Phillips.

Two of the boys in the graduating class have been called as Fellow Professors to serve as military instructors.

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

The Glendale Garden Society is expected to meet the first Thursday in October at the home of Mrs. Nanno Woods. It will be a meeting of considerable importance as the society will discuss the investment of the funds now in its treasury, the expectation being that they will be put to some patriotic use. It is therefore urgent that all members be present.

ANOTHER HEADLINER

PASADENA ELKS BAND TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR BENEFIT PLAY

Patrons of the Community Harvest Festival, to be given on the High School grounds, September 20th and 21st, are to have the pleasure of hearing one of the best bands in Southern California. The Pasadena Elks Band is recognized as a crack organization and that superb body of twenty-five musicians will furnish music for the very charming spectacular play, "The Great Souls of Little Things," which will feature the evening program on both days.

Tickets for the play are to be 25c each. At that price the seating capacity of the grand stand should be taxed to its uttermost at both performances.

As there will be a variety of high-class entertainment features going on about the ground practically all of the time, most of them absolutely free to the public, it is expected that large numbers will plan to come early and stay late.

An excellent 50c dinner will be served in the High School cafeteria at six-thirty p. m. This will be in charge of Mrs. T. D. Ogg. The Oggs are recognized in Glendale as artists in the culinary line, and it is safe to say that their reputation will be fully sustained on this occasion by Mrs. Ogg, and that hungry ones will make no mistake in dining with her.

Admission to the grounds will be free to all.

"DRESS PARADE TO K. P."

REV. B. DUDLEY SNUDDEN ANALYZES MEANING OF AMERICA'S ENTRANCE INTO WAR

The sermon of Rev. B. Dudley Snudden preached in his own pulpit in the First Methodist church of this city Sunday night, was timely and was a practical Christian message to every hearer. His announced subject was "From Dress Parade to K. P." His text was drawn from the 13th chapter of John: "And he took a towel and girded himself," which had reference to the preparations Jesus made for washing the feet of his disciples at the Feast of the Passover and thus teaching them humility and service.

He described Jesus' entry into Jerusalem, which was perhaps spectacular enough to be called the dress parade, and over against that scene he set this foot washing ceremony in which Christ served his disciples.

The passage of our fleet around the world and its visit to this coast twelve years ago was cited as another case of dress parade forgotten now in the service which that same fleet is rendering to its country and humanity.

He declared that wherever there is a great service to be rendered, a great wrong to be righted, the individual or the nation must gird itself with the towel as did Christ. Said he:

"We have not yet learned the ethical lesson of the coming of Christ. We have been slow in understanding the epoch-making meaning of America's entrance into this great war. To many it means simply whipping the Hun and taking as much toll from Germany as we can. To others, we are simply avenging the Lusitania. Friends, that is the smallest part of the program. If we would learn the meaning it is that Christ's attitude toward life is becoming the policy of the nations, that if we would go to the high places in the universe, we musts give all we have to service.

"I doubt if in the years to come we shall see another old-fashioned Fourth of July. We have gone far beyond that."

He then spoke of the menial army service, "K. P." and of its importance in the ordered army scheme and its ennobling effect upon the men who were willing so to serve for the cause. "This war means," said he, "that we are willing now to turn aside from the dress parade of society and become the K. P. for the world. That is what it means.

"Last week fourteen millions of men registered. What is the logic of America's attitude today? You say America could not maintain her self respect, her sense of decency and keep out. It was a great necessity. If that be true, in some strange, inexplicable way the coming of the Son of God was one of the great necessities of all eternity. He came out of sheer necessity because of the tremendous need of humanity and to the least individual man he took the towel of ministry. We are girding our loins in these days. Because Christ could become like man, therefore man can become like Christ."

GET READY FOR NEW DIRECTORY

The Evening News is entering upon the work of publishing a new city directory for Glendale and Casa Verdugo. The first consideration in publishing this much-needed community reference book is to have a directory that is handy and useful. The co-operation of all persons who feel interested in having the very best for Glendale that it is possible to have is needed in this local enterprise. When completed, the new directory will have many valuable features not found in the old one, and it will contain an authentic enumeration of the people of the city to date. The names of the men who have entered the military service of the United States will appear in special type.

WAR TROPHY

Miss Margaret McPherson of 1516 Pioneer drive is the proud possessor of a German helmet which she received Saturday from a friend, right from a battlefield in France. It was mailed August 13 and still has the marks of the struggle upon it as the sender says he had no time to wash it, but rubbed it off with leaves. One mark especially is of great significance, as it is a hole where a piece of iron shrapnel penetrated it and as the sender tersely puts it, "The owner didn't need it any longer." It has the owner's name engraved on the inside.

A great many called to see this interesting object and Miss McPherson will be glad to exhibit it to those who are interested, if they will call at the above address.

AUSTRALIAN WAR WORK

TOLD IN LETTER TO MRS. FREEMAN KELLEY, ALSO ADMIRATION OF AMERICA

A letter of great interest has just been received by Mrs. Freeman Kelley of this city from a friend in Australia describing war work which is being done by women of that country and also the sentiment of the country in regard to Americans and American victories. Mrs. Kelley has kindly consented to the publication of the following extracts from the letter.

"I can quite understand how busy you are these days. I know by experience for I am ever on the go. I belong to "The Volunteer Aid," which is really Red Cross work. The convalescent homes for sick and wounded are run by the V. A's. Every detachment has its turn of going into the hospital and for work. Our uniform is all white with a red cross on the front of our aprons.

"The V. A's are over two thousand strong in Sidney. We had a big day here in Sidney in April for the Red Cross and there was a procession of V. A's in full uniform, about two thousand girls and women in dazzling white. It was indeed a beautiful spectacle. I am proud to say I was in the procession, too, and after that we all took our various booths, the main street being roped off for that purpose. Then business started. The principal streets of Sidney were roped off and given over to these booths.

"Another duty of ours is to be in readiness at any time to meet the hospital ships and serve tea and refreshments to the sick and wounded.

"Last Saturday was A. I. F. Day. The city and suburbs and country towns were just like a beautiful bazaar. All the main streets were festooned and decorated and there were dainty stalls of all descriptions with ladies in charge in dainty, fancy frocks, making everything very inviting for the public to open its purse and spend and give with all its heart. The counting of the returns from A. I. F. day is not completed yet, but so far 45,000 pounds (about $225,000) is in hand.

"The money is to be used to erect an everlasting memorial to the men of the Australian Imperial Force, in which, I might say, my nephew is serving. It is to take the form of a Hall of Fame with a roll of honor for each town in it. Our division of Voluntary Aids took 150 towns into our booth.

"You were speaking of the service badges. We have the same thing here. Ours is a little Australian flag, and for each member of the family at the front we stick a small red seal. We also have a Red Cross button which costs five shillings. They were sold for Red Cross Day. On that day almost five hundred thousand pounds were collected in the city and suburbs. I have found pictures of the Day, also one of War Chest Day in our paper, and will enclose them.

"In November next we are having another War Chest Day for the Navy, called 'Jack's Day.' It is beautiful to be able to take part in these affairs, especially with the thought at heart that it is all for our dear boys. It is so little in comparison with what they are doing for us.

"There was great excitement in Sidney when the news of America's first big victory came. The church bells rang throughout the city, the boat sirens screeched, trains whistled in appreciation and acknowledgment. There is no doubt we have in America one of the truest and staunchest of allies and I am sure the feeling of the people here is one of profound admiration for her splendid work and accomplishments.

"There are thousands of wounded men returning here nearly every week. They are always given great public receptions. Strong posts are formed all along the main street where these war-worn heroes pass in autos. They are driven from the boats to an enclosure in the 'Domain' which centers the public park, where they meet their friends and relatives. Here the V. A's wait on them and their relatives with tea and cake. Each detachment of V. A's is called in turn to be on duty at the Anzac Buffet, which is the enclosure in the Domain."

COMPLYING WITH THE NEW RULING

The Evening News subscribers are paying subscriptions in advance of October 1, 1918, as required by the new ruling of the war department. The paid-in-advance list on October 1 will be a large one and one that every citizen who is interested in a community daily paper should point to with pride.

TEACHERS CONFER

MEET AT INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL AND ARE ADDRESSED BY MRS. TOLL AND MR. WHITE

A very pleasant meeting which was a reunion of old teachers and a reception to new ones, was held in the auditorium of the Intermediate School Saturday morning which was attended by all the teachers of the city schools. All seemed to be glad to again be in touch with school matters and with each other, for school was to open in earnest today.

The first talk at the Saturday meeting was made by Mrs. Charles Toll, president of the Board of Trustees of city schools, who told of the arrangements for Extension Lecture Courses which are being made by the University of Southern California to be given afternoons and on Saturdays. She urged the teachers to plan their work to take advantage of this opportunity if possible, and especially recommended the courses in European History and French. If a sufficient enrollment can be secured, classes will be formed in Glendale.

Superintendent Richardson D. White also addressed the teachers and dwelt on the Red Cross work in Manual Training and Sewing Departments which the schools are expected to do. He called attention to a special communication from Washington in regard to enlisting children in the saving of fruit pits and nut shells because the carbon which can be made from them can be used as a neutralizing agent in the gas masks which the government is manufacturing for the protection of our boys over there. All kinds of pits are wanted from cherries, peaches, apricots, prunes, nectarines, etc., and the shells from nuts of every kind. The communication stated that 200 peach pits or 7 pounds of nut shells would provide enough carbon for one gas respirator.

Leaders from among the children will be appointed by their class teachers. The pits will be collected at the schools and then forwarded to the government.

Poison gas was one of the first fruits of German Kultur. It stings, bites and kills. The carbon made from fruit pits and nut shells will neutralize this gas.

GERMAN HELMET IN GLENDALE

Newton McGillis celebrated his fourteenth birthday last Friday and feels very proud of the fact that it was also the birthday of General Pershing, which he celebrated by another big drive against the Germans. Saturday Newton received from his brother, Hill McGillis, a German helmet which presumably Hill picked up on the battlefield, for some of the soil of No Man's Land is still clinging to it. Battered and pierced by shot, it gives mute testimony to hard service. Newton is anxiously awaiting a letter from his brother giving details of this valued birthday remembrance. It will be observed that this birthday fell on Friday the 13th, but is not considered unlucky on that account.

A GOLDEN CHANCE

SEWING DEPARTMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLING WOMEN FOR SPECIAL INSTRUCTION

Lest Glendale women may not be fully awake to their opportunities in connection with Glendale Union High School, they are reminded that special classes for adults in the Sewing Section, which will be under the instruction of Mrs. Bement, head of the department, are now being organized. The period assigned them is from 2 to 3:30 every afternoon and the course will include dressmaking, drafting of patterns and millinery. This should not be confused with the work of the dressmaking department at the Red Cross Headquarters under Mrs. Waite, where women can go for immediate help in their dressmaking problems on payment of a fee.

Mrs. Bement's pupils are enrolled like those in any other department of the school for regular systematic work, and they are expected to attend faithfully. Transient pupils can neither receive benefit themselves, nor reflect credit on the school.

Just how the work will be arranged can not be determined until the full enrollment is in. If the classes are large, Mrs. Bement will probably assign two days to millinery and three to sewing. Pupils will of course furnish their own materials and so can select the kind of work they want to do.

Last year there was a registration of twenty-seven in this department and some of those pupils are returning this year for more advanced work.

MILLION DOLLAR LIBERTY LOAN TANK VICTORY

The "Million Dollar" Liberty Loan Tank Victory will tour Southern California and appear in every city and community during the Liberty Loan Campaign.

This was the announcement today of Publicity Director Harold Janss of the Southern California Liberty Loan State Central Committee after meeting with the County Chairmen of the various Southern California counties.

This monster tank is the same tank that was the central feature of the Liberty Loan Campaign in Los Angeles City during the Third Drive. From its hurricane deck a Million Dollars worth of Bonds were sold by the moving picture stars of the Big Moving Picture Studios of Los Angeles. So successful was this feature during the Third Loan that Director of Publicity Janss was beseiged with requests to have the tank appear in Southern California cities.

The big tank will be escorted through the entire tour by military motorcycle outriders and will carry a machine gun and be fully equipped with spot lights, flood lights and every contrivance necessary for the Liberty Loan work. It is stated it will travel between the different communities on its own power. The exact date of its appearance at Glendale will be announced later and it is stated that prominent moving picture stars will appear in this city and speak from the tank. Special plans will be arranged to make the visit of the tank a huge success.

FIX UP THE OLD HOUSES

There are some old houses in every community that renters shy at and which remain unoccupied as long as a more attractive habitation is available. These old houses represent a tremendous amount of waste. Thousands of dollars are tied up in such buildings in the city of Los Angeles alone, says the Southwest Builder and Contractor. When no other shelter can be secured they will be occupied, but you can bet your last dollar and feel safe that the tenant will move just as soon as he can find a better place in which to live. The necessity for conservation of labor and material, which is imposing restrictions on new building operations, makes it imperative that all old houses be utilized. Owners of old houses can do the country a distinct service just now by fixing up their buildings and making them habitable. We are going to need every available house and that very soon.

Some peopel labor under a delusion that spending money on an old house is like sending good money after the bad. This is a very harmful and widespread delusion. Materials and labor have been so plentiful and it has been so easy to build new houses, that the old houses have been neglected with the expectation that the land would some day be more valuable for some other purpose or that the houses would later be replaced by new ones. Now is the time for the owner who harbors such a fallacy to forget it. Many of the old houses are better built and contain more good materials than the new ones. Fortunes have been made wrecking old houses for that very reason. Materials which have been regarded by thoughtless owners as so much old junk have been salvaged and resold at prices only a trifle less than would be required to purchase new materials. Under present conditions this is an inexcusable waste.

Any old house that is in a fairly good state of preservation can be made not only habitable, but attractive as well. Instead of calling in a wrecker, consult an architect. He will show you how to make the house over so that it will produce a good income on the investment for a long time to come. Of course you will need some new materials. You will need a carpenter, a plasterer, a plumber, a painter and perhaps other workmen. But you have the assurance that the government looks with favor on your efforts to rehabilitate the old house and you won't have any difficulty securing necessary materials or labor. Many old houses with a little planning and the expenditure of a little money can be remodeled to serve not only one family but two or three and perhaps four families. This is real conservation and it is just what the government wants you to do to help it save the materials and labor which are vitally necessary to winning the war.

YANKEE HOSPITAL AMAZES VISITOR

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 16. (By Mail).—"Madame" is a devoted and intelligent French woman. She is a war veteran in addition, and now a staunch pro-American.

When the war broke out and "Madame's" husband and son were mobilized at once into the French army, "Madame" could not be idle. Hastily she gathered the women of her town about her, and offered their services for hospital work.

In that dark period of the first awful shock against the barbarous German waves, she and her cohorts, with practically nothing in the way of equipment or medical supplies, cared for thousands of wounded Frenchmen.

Then "Madame's" health gave out, after almost three years of service in French hospitals without any payment, and she was discharged about the time her husband was released from the army. Together they recuperated, while their son did the family share, operating a machine gun on Germans.

A few days ago, "Madame," now in health again, appeared at American Base Hospital 66. Madame wanted to visit the wards, and "see how Americans run hospitals."

We could not bring visitors to our hospitals," she said, "But I have heard the Americans are very free. Could you possibly let me see how you run your hospitals?"

A congenial nurse took "Madame" through the wards. She saw Americans, French, English, and all allied nationalities being cared for by American nurses and according to American standards of medical treatment.

She saw men come in, she saw them after first treatments, and during their convalescence. Everywhere there was an air of contentment, and even the worst patient seemed to feel at home. Men of all nationalities were enjoying themselves at the hospital. She saw them eating, and noted the quantity and the quality of the food. She did not wonder they ate it with relish, she said.

The instruments used by doctors and nurses were a source of amazement for "Madame." "It makes everything certain," she declared. "We did not have such instruments and had to guess. You cannot make a mistake, can you? Your wounded are certain to get well."

"Madame" thought the hospital food was remarkable, and asked some French patients how they liked it. "They say they want to stay in an American hospital all the time," she stated, "They have not had such food since the war started as they are eating here. Look, they are getting fat on it."

The fact that all the American nurses had completed long training courses to prepare for their work was amazing to "Madame." Her assistants had no training. "Your nurses are ready for the war. They know all about medical work. Then you will not lose the men that France has lost, for we were not ready for the war.

"It is marvelous to have nothing to worry about. And it is doubly amazing to us French people, when you come thousands of miles and do things so well and so carefully about it. It makes us happy too, you see. We have much to learn from your young American ways."

According to an Australian editor, a very high percentage of the masculine population in his vicinity send poetical contributions to the newspapers and magazines. Judging from the figures, the Antipodes must contain more poets than any other part of the earth. Whilst, however, the circumstances must be a matter of sincere gratification to the young and sturdy Dominion, the editors of the journals and magazines must be congratulating themselves upon the temporary lull in the literary output occasioned by the presence of so many of the poets on the various fronts. Like Rupert Brooke, they have doubtless thrown down the pen and said: "Well, if Armageddon's on, I suppose one should be there."

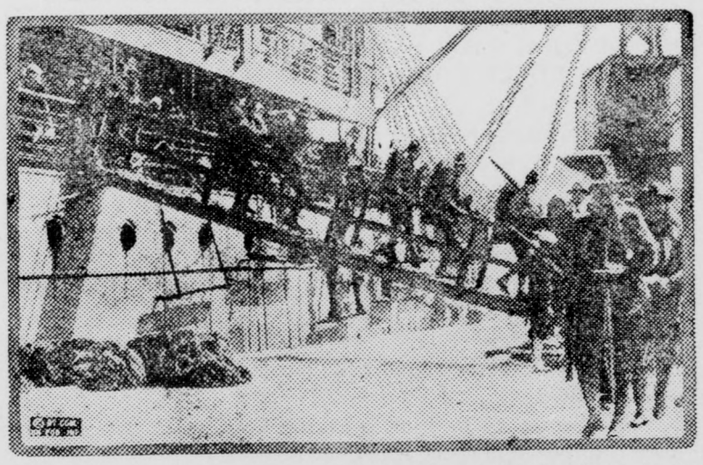
GOOD NEWS FROM SALONICA FRONT

SERBIANS AND FRENCH ATTACK BULGARIAN POSITIONS AND TAKE 3 MOUNTAIN PEAKS

WASHINGTON, September 16.—Washington dispatches to the Serbian legation today announced that the French and Serbians strongly attacked fortified Bulgarian positions on the Salonica front. They captured three mountain peaks nearly a mile high which the Bulgarians have been fortifying for the last thirty months.

Many hundreds of prisoners were taken, together with quantities of war materials.

THE 'ENDLESS LINE' ROLLS ON AND ON



Here are American troops, blanket rolls on backs, rifles in hand, debarking in England from the transport on which they made a safe journey from some "Atlantic Port".

So continuously do American soldiers pass through villages of southeastern England, en route from some British or Scotch port where they have left their ships to some channel port to complete their voyage to France on the small cross-channel steamers, that the residents call it the "endless line".

Fourth Liberty Loan bonds will provide more and bigger transport for our soldiers and more destroyers to protect them from submarines.

Mrs. Charles Bosserman, mother of Le Roy Bosserman of this city, whose home is in La Porte, Indiana, has written that she will soon leave for Glendale to again spend the winter here, where she has many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman leave Friday by auto for San Francisco, to be gone three to four weeks. It will be a business trip for him and a pleasure tour for her to which both are looking forward.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Liebernett, who have been residents of Glendale for six or seven years, are leaving Tuesday for Taft, where they expect to remain. Mr. Liebernett has been employed there in the oil fields for some time and now Mrs. Liebernett is joining him, her husband having motored up the last of the week to convey her to the more northern city.

Mrs. R. V. Hogue and son Benjy, of 1330 West Colorado boulevard, after spending two very restful weeks at Long Beach, were joined by Dr. Hogue, and with a party composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tuck enjoyed a most delightful auto tour which took them camping up in the Santa Inez Mountains, beyond Santa Barbara, where they visited the old Santa Inez Mission. This mission is one of the most interesting and least visited of the missions, being somewhat out of the beaten path of travel. The party returned by Matilija Springs and went on down to San Diego for a short stay, returning in time for the opening of school.

P.-T. A. LUNCHEON

The enthusiasm aroused at the luncheon with which Mrs. Blake Franklin, the incoming president of the Intermediate Parent-Teacher Association, entertained her executive board on Friday at her home on Wilson avenue, promises much for the success of the work this year.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, the Federation president, who was also a guest at this most enjoyable affair, expressed herself as much pleased with the manner in which the board was taking hold of the work, in what promises to be a very strenuous year. The energies of the Association will be directed into the channel of war work and regular times of meeting and not only "doing their bit" but doing the quota which will be definitely assigned to them, were arranged.

A two-course Hooverized luncheon was served at a table most charming in its appointments of beautiful set of luncheon doilies and an artistic arrangement of pink and lavender verbenas.

The members of the board enjoying Mrs. Franklin's hospitality were Miss Clara Midcalf, vice-president; Miss Eva Daniels, secretary; Mrs. Alfred Dove, treasurer; Mrs. P. V. Potter, chairman membership; Mrs. S. R. Frazee, courtesy; Mrs. W. A. Burns, juvenile work; Mrs. R. T. Burr, education; Mrs. V. M. Tresslar, patriotic; Mrs. R. E. Chase, visiting; Mrs. W. W. The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames H. H. Martin, Edw. M. Lynch, T. D. McClintock, Arthur D. Cross, J. O. Westervelt, R. M. Brown and F. J Kuntzner

FRENCH IN SAN FRANCISCO SCHOOLS

Hugh Blue, who with Mrs. Blue was a resident of Glendale for many years, came down from San Francisco last week for a brief visit with old friends and relatives. He is holding an important position there under the Food Administration. He and Mrs. Blue like San Francisco very much. He says his small children who are attending the grammar schools there are learning French rapidly. It is one of the studies recently introduced there in the lower grades.

Miss Ruth Pierce has resigned her position in the Glendale city schools to accept one in the Junior High School at Pomona. Miss Pierce has been teaching in the city schools for three years, one year at the Colorado boulevard school and two years at the Broadway school. Sept. 20 and 21—Community Harvest Festival.

Persons planning Red Cross entertainments are requested to have dates reserved by telephoning Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, chairman of Bureau of Entertainments. Glendale 918-J.

DANCING PARTY

Miss Carrie Stone entertained with a dancing party Saturday evening at her home on South Glendale avenue in honor of student friends who are returning to school this week. Flowers and flags made a pretty setting for the affair and after the dancing, dainty refreshments were served. Her guest list included Misses Margery Imler, Evangeilne Hunchberger, Esther Schremp, Katherine Renshaw, Ernestine Lyon, Catherine Phillips, Waunita Emery, Margaret Boucher, and Mesdames Phillips, Bradley, Marteau, Jack, Tandy and Budway.

SPECTACULAR PAGEANT

"The Great Souls of Little Things," written by Fred Myton, scenario writer at Universal, and under the competent direction of Dr. C. W. Bachman and his valuable assistants, Roy Kent, Mrs. Glenwood Jones, Mrs. E. W. Kinney in charge of the costuming and decorating, Harry Lynch, who will direct the lighting effects, will be the most wonderful affair ever given in Glendale. The prologue is the beautiful Greek myth of Ceres, the Goddess of Grains, and her beautiful daughter, Proserpina, who was stolen and carried away by Pluto. Pan and Mercury will also be there. Following the prologue will be the dances of the elements, Rain, Wind, Sunbeams, etc., in charge of Mrs. Pearl Keller, who is devoting her talents, energy and time teaching a large number of pretty girls to interpret the sowing, growing and reaping of the grains. This allegorical spectacle is a demonstration of thanksgiving for the plentiful crops of the grains which have meant and are meaning so much in the winning of the war.

A chorus of 50 or more voices under the direction of Mrs. Frank Arnold and Mrs. L. N. Hagood, who, by the way has written the music to the words of the Exmoor Harvest Song, will render this number.

Miss Lois Naudain, 903 Lomita avenue, will give a solo dance in Greek costume. Admission to the grounds will be free to the Harvest Festival which is to be given for the benefit of the Red Cross on September 20 and 21, afternoon and evening, on the High School athletic field.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL WINS PRIZE

Miss Muriel Gardiner, a student of the Glendale Union High School, is the winner of the third prize in the War Loan Essay contest which was conducted by the National Committee of Patriotic Societies, according to the announcement made Sunday by the judges, who had just completed the task of reading the thousands of papers submitted. The judges were Mrs. William G. McAdoo, Mrs. Antoinette Funk and Mrs. William Mather Lewis. The winner of the first prize was a Californian also, Marcus Duffield of San Diego.

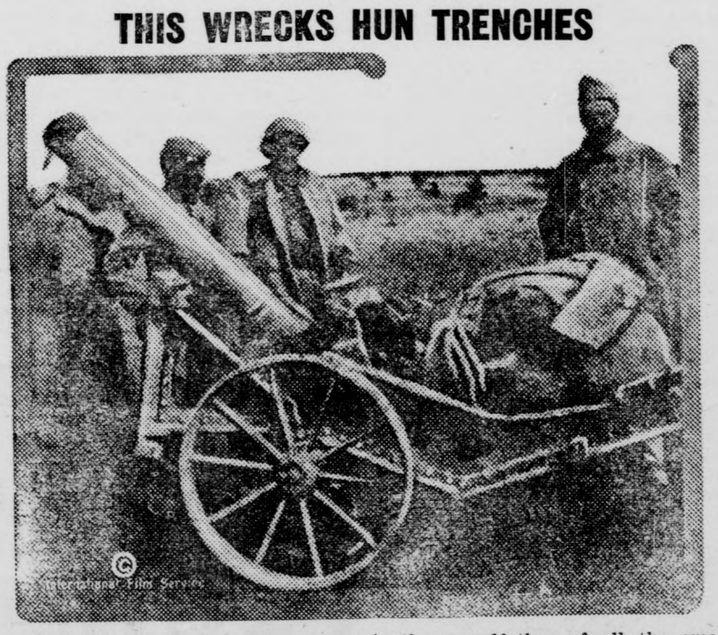
One of the conditions was that every shcool competing should have a campaign for the sale of Liberty Bonds.

Miss Gardiner, who is a senior in the Glendale Union High School, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gardiner of 365 East Hill street, Eagle Rock. Mrs. Gardiner is city librarian.

The National Committee of Patriotic Societies will hold a similar contest for the fourth Liberty Loan, the subject being "Making Our Dollars Fight." The essays will be limited to 600 words in length. High school students all over the United States are eligible to compete.

Mrs. J. A. Stone of 865 Glendale avenue has received a cablegram from her son Garland Stone, who is with the Headquarters Troop, 40th Division, announcing his safe arrival in France, saying further letter would follow.

THIS WRECKS HUN TRENCHES



This 155-milimeter trench cannon is the grandfather of all the small trench artillery. The Germans at first had much superior small guns for trench smashing at short range, and life in British lines in Flanders was made miserable by the Hun "minenwerfers." Then the Stokes trench mortar was taken to France to make things hot for Heinie. The French gun shown above is Fritz' worst hate. Your share in the Fourth Liberty Loan will help turn the tables on the Boche.

There's Value in Cancelled Checks

TOMATO GROWERS SHOULD PREPARE TO SPRAY AFTER RAIN

By J. Eliot Coit, Farm Advisor

After the present period of rainy weather, tomato growers should watch their vines closely for any appearance of late or winter blight. This is due to the same fungus which causes potato blight in the East. It only occurs in California in the fall and winter during and after periods of wet weather. In the past, entire crops of tomatoes have been ruined within a few days following a rain.

It is quite possible to control this disease and prevent serious damage if at the first appearance of the spots on the leaves the vines are promptly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture. The proper strength of the mixture for tomato vines is bluestone five pounds, lump lime six pounds, and water fifty gallons.

THE LILY'S PRAYER

By F. Lee Chauvan

In the white of the lily's breast
I hear a prayer,
'Tis the lily's voice, for I feel
Its spirit there.

There's a glow on the lily's breast,
It speaks to me;
In the sweet of its breath, I hear,
"I pray for thee."

"I pray for thee," the lily says,
"That thou wilt feel
The love God in my spirit breathes,
Bids me reveal.

The love God in my spirit breathes,
In it I live,
And in the goodness of His will,
From it I give.

Ae I gently rest on the breast
Of the lady fair,
In her soul's music is a chord,
Touched in my prayer.

When on thy brow the shadow falls,
The light in thee
Of my spirit's life, will be thine
Eternally."

FARMERS KILL HUN STARVATION PLAN WITH BIG CROPS

Pinched by Own Hunger, Germans Watch American Wheat Flow In Plenty to the Allies

The soil, the two-fisted fighting men that spring from the soil, and the unconquerable determination of the Americans who till it, are beating the Germans.

Thrown back from his first rush across the Marne and held at Verdun by the valiant French, the Huns cast all the restraints of humanity and civilization to the winds and ushered in unrestricted submarine warfare with the boast that England would be starved in six months.

How nearly they approached success will form one of the most gloomy chapters in the world war history; how and why they failed, one of the most inspiring sections of the epic chronicle.

AMERICA SENDS FIGHTERS FOOD

True, British and American sea-dogs hunted the submarine; American shipbuilders launched fleets whose sheer numbers made it impossible for the Hun sub-sea terrors to sink all of them; British land conscription turned hundreds of thousands of acres of parks and hunting preserves into crop-producing areas; Hoover and American food economy saved millions of bushels of wheat and shiploads of meat for fighting men and civilians in France and England.

But in the last analysis it was the farm and the farmer of America that kept allied hosts on every Western front in plenty and added despair of victory to the pinch of hunger behind the Hun lines.

His bumper crops jolted hopes at Potsdam and Vienna as severely as his fighting sons jolted Teuton generals at Cantigny and along the Marne, since expectations of American crop failure were based with Germanic complacency on carefully plotted campaigns of propaganda and sabotage in the United States.

HUN AGENTS BURN CROPS

The general public is too little aware of the bitter battles the crop grower has had to fight to bring his wheat to harvest.

Burned barns, standing crops, harvesters and threshing machines were only a part of the widespread ruin planned by these fellows of Boy-Ed, Von Papen and von Bernstorff, and in too many instances their plots were successful. That more were not was due only to untiring vigilance which can never be relaxed while the war lasts.

New goals, not easy of attainment, are placed before the farmer through the plan for raising an army of five million Americans to crush Germany next year.

He will be further handicapped by the loss of hands to the army, and he must raise greater crops. Plans of the Department of Agriculture call for the increase of wheat acreage in the West by as much as 80 per cent.

NEW EFFORTS CALLED FOR

No one doubts that he will rise to the opportunity for service placed before him, any more than any one doubts that he will play his other parts in the perfectly co-ordinated fighting machine revealed when America turned as a nation to win the war.

Not the least of these parts was his participation in the financing of the battle, though previous history had written down much effort to finance the farmer.

Rural districts were uniformly more prompt than metropolitan areas in their response to the Third Liberty Loan. Honor flags first flew from country flagstaffs, and those with the greatest number of honor stripes likewise.

The Third Liberty Loan, the greatest financial achievement in the history of the United States, and therefore in the world, is to be perhaps doubly eclipsed by the Fourth Liberty Loan.

The part of the farmer probably will be as proud.

CHILDREN RUN TO SOLDIER PALS AT ARMY MESS CALL

French Tots Share Yankee Soldiers' Rations—Women's War Parts Great

By Mrs. Hazel Pedlar Faulkner

"The little children in this neighborhood have learned to distinguish the mess call.

"Immediately it is sounded, they troup out from every conceivable corner, taking their places around the men, watching with eager, hungry eyes every bite that is dished out. A fellow can't eat his prunes very comfortably with such an audience, and the men here have divided every meal with these little fellows, who are the children of men saving France."

A "home-town" private, one of the Engineers who has been building railarmies in France, sent that message home. He is one of the men who has been dividing his daily ration of soup and beans, of meat and prunes, with the children who are the soul of France.

WOMEN GIVE WHEAT, SONS AND MONEY

American women, everywhere, and Western women second to none, have borne their part in the fight. They have saved their meat and their wheat, they have given their husbands and sons. Their money is going now. In the first, second and third Liberty loans they have invested their dollars. Opportunity to serve has come again. The Government is seeking funds. It is asking for the third of its three-fold need—men, munitions and money.

The hand that rocked the cradle is holding the purse strings in these momentous days. For their boys Western mothers will not withhold the needed gold. America has started on the road to Berlin. The way is a long one and traveling is difficult. But the journey must be made, and the pilgrims must be equipped.

It is no longer a question of "shall we buy bonds" with American mothers. That was answered when the boys went over there. It is no longer a question of "can we buy bonds." The experience of the first three loans has answered that.

The question for Western women, in company with women all over the land to answer is "what is the limit to which I can, by sacrifice and saving, by going without and working for,—what is the limit which I can reach?"

CAN'T STOP SHORT OF BERLIN GOAL

It would be a sorry ending of a journey to have America stop short of Berlin. It is inconceivable that our soldiers should stop short of that goal.

Can you, women of the West, pause in the great task which has been set for you? Can you halt for an instant in the face of the country's need?

Will all of those planned purchases weigh in the scale with the call which comes ringing across from those plains where the boys are fighting? It is to keep your boy on the march toward the final goal that the Government asks you to lend it your utmost.

"I regret that I have but one life to give for my country," said Nathan Hale, as he ascended the enemy's gallows.

Ours is the task to save lives for our country, to save by lending our all at its request. The Fourth Liberty Loan gives American mothers and sisters a new opportunity to make impossible a regret that they had but one chance to give.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is ours. What is our utmost? The country awaits our answer.

General Orders, No. 53, recently issued by the War Department in Washington, provide:

"A gold chevron * * * to be worn on the lower half of the left sleeve * * * by each officer, field clerk and enlisted man who has served six months in a theatre of operations during the present war * * * *."

A war service badge—bespeaking active participation in the conflict abroad. What pride the wearer will feel, in that little piece of adornment, 'of standard material and design"!

To the onlookers, what honors will it suggest; what endurance and valor!

War service badges are not to be confined to the Army and Navy alone. The great numbers of those who stay at home may have a badge of service and distinction. With the issuing of the Fourth Liberty Loan button there becomes available for every loyal American a mark of war service, a badge of honor for war work well done.

FARMS FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Secretary Lane announces that the preparation of a program looking to providing farms for returned soldiers has been given into the hands of A. P. Davis, director and chief engineer of the Reclamation Service, who will have general charge of the work, and with whom will be associated Elwood Mead, H. T. Cory, and Frank W. Hanna.

Mr. Mead was formerly in charge of the land settlement work of the State of California. Mr. Cory is the engineer who had charge of closing the Salton Sea for the Southern Pacific, and Mr. Hanna is one of the most prominent engineers of the West. Mr. Weymouth, chief of construction for the Reclamation Service stationed at Denver, will report on possible irrigation projects, Mr. Cory on the swamp and cut-over lands of the South, and Mr. Hanna on the swamp and cut-over lands of the North.

"We can have a job at good pay for every soldier who returns from France," said Secretary Lane," if Congress will give us the financial support needed. And while at work the soldier can be making a home for himself for which he can pay the Government in 40 years' time. This plan has received the endorsement of so large a percentage of Congress and the press of the country that it appears to be a probable program; it certainly is a practicable one. We have but $200,000 now for preliminary surveys and reports, but this will be increased undoubtedly by the incoming Congress. There is enough waste and undeveloped land in this country to give every soldier a farm, but of course no such program is contemplated, because all would not want farms."

PREFERRED INDUSTRIES

The preferred industry groupings, which are being made by the War Industries Board, will be the key to guide the draft boards in making exemptions for war work, Mr. Baruch, Chairman of the War Industries Board, has explained. There will be 69 preferred groups divided into four classes, graded according to their shortage of material. Outside of these grades and not included are 6500 other separate plants classed as essential only to the extent of their active engagements in war work. Mr. Baruch said he proposed, as the head of the War Industries Board, to make application for the exemption from war duty of the essential men in the War Industries Board.

DON'T LET MILK SPOIL

In this time of need for food, every effort should be made to prevent milk from spoiling. Cows should be kept clean and should be milked in clean surroundings into a small-top or covered pail. All utensils which come into contact with the milk should be thoroughly sterilized with steam for at least five minutes, and milk should be cooled promptly at 50 degrees Fahrenheit or less and maintained at that temperature. Whenever these conditions are met, little milk will be wasted. In this time of terrible destruction of human life it is particularly necessary that milk be produced under such conditions as to insure a safe food for babies. This must be done by a decreasing number of men trained to do it. A great task and a great opportunity for dairymen are involved.

YOU HAVE GARDEN SEED NOW—SAVE IT

Some of the garden seed now growing abundant in your garden will be needed next year when planting time comes. Better save a supply while you can. It is not hard to save seed and quite frequently the home-grown supply is better than any that can be bought from the seedman. Home-grown seeds are suited to local environment, and the vigor and productiveness of the plant from which they are selected can be taken into consideration—which is an important point in selecting home-grown seed. Wait until the seed matures, then dry it thoroughly immediately after it has been harvested, put it in packages well labeled, and store in a dry place where it can not be destroyed by insects, rats or mice.

HOME FOOD SAVING PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

A detailed program for California housewives to follow in food conservation, with particular reference to wheat and sugar saving, has just been issued by the United States Food Administration to clear up some apparent confusion since the new rules became effective September 1.

Wheat

1. Waste no food of any kind. Approximately 15,000,000 tons of non-perishables, including wheat, meats, fats, cereals, canned goods and dried fruits, must be shipped to the Allies and our own troops this year, as against 10,000,000 tons last year.

2. All bread baked in the home should contain not less than one pound of substitute flour for each four pounds of wheat flour. The new Victory Mixed Flour, containing the required percentage of substitute, will be on the market shortly and may be purchased from the grocer at a price not more than the regular selling price of wheat flour. Bread can be made from this flour without adding more substitutes.

3. It is unpatriotic, as well as a violation of the rules, to use pure wheat flour without the addition of substitutes, except for thickening gravies.

4. Wheat flour may be purchased in reasonable quantities in the proportion of four pounds to one pound of certain substitutes. Rice in the grain and breakfast foods are no longer in the substitute list.

Sugar

1. Use other sweeteners such as syrups of all kinds and honey. Eliminate the use of sugar in home-made cakes, pies, pastries and candies.

2. Observe rigidly the two pound per month per person sugar allotment and use less than this if possible. Buy only as you need it.

"American voluntary sacrifices in food restrictions and in other government work has put victory against the Hun in sight and it is vitally necessary to make victory complete that this voluntary sacrifice be maintained and expanded," Federal Food Commissioner Ralph P. Merritt telegraphed from Washington today.

INSPECTION OF CONDENSED MILK

Federal food inspectors of the United States Department of Agriculture are giving special attention to factories where milk is condensed or evaporated for use of the allied armies and for consumers at home, according to the officials charged with the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act.

Condensed or evaporated milk is a most important article of food even in peace times, in the opinion of the officials. It is used by bakeries and confectioneries, and in feeding babies and the sick, as well as being used as a general substitute for fresh milk wherever the raw milk can not be obtained in sufficient quantity or purity.

In time of war evaporated milk becomes a necessity, because it can be transported with ease and will keep a reasonable time under conditions where it is impossible to obtain or keep fresh milk. As much as 80 per cent of the output of many large factories is being shipped overseas for the use of the allied armies.

FARM BOYS MAKE MONEY FROM MOLES

"Remember that the mole is the Kaiser's land submarine, and it is up to us to eradicate them as our Nation is cleaning out the sea pirates," reads a letter from a county agent in Oregon to a young hunter of Oregon City. Western Oregon is carrying on an intensive campaign to save her gardens and crops from the ravages of moles. The skin of a native mole is as valuable as any pelt which can be imported; hence county agents devised the plan of organizing the boys in each county to wage war on the moles. The skins are concentrated in a pool by the agent and are marketed when a sufficient quantity has accumulated. Oregon farm lads gain pin money and satisfaction from this work of protecting farm crops against rodent enemies.

LABEL SEED PACKAGES

Of course, it is a good thing to save garden seed. But carefully saved seed should be well labeled and stored to save confusion next spring. Cloth bags are the best container for large seed and well-sealed envelopes are satisfactory for smaller kinds. Every envelope or contained should show the kind and varieties of seed, the date, including month and year when harvested, and the place where grown.

DEFINING ESSENTIAL AND NON-ESSENTIAL

Ever since the federal government began the use of the terms "essential" and "non-essential" in reference to construction projects there has been endless confusion as to their application, says an exchange. Evidently the government did not care, at the beginning, to make a specific classification, leaving it to the people for the time to determine in their own judgment what was essential or non-essential. The result was, as might have been expected, a wide range in the interpretation of these terms by individuals and public bodies, some going to ridiculous extremes. As the war has progressed, however, it has become necessary for the government to specifically declare certain industries as essential or non-essential, and we are in a fair way now, to secure an official interpretation of the terms as applied to every branch of business and industry.

A distinct forward step has been taken by the United States Highway Council in defining highways of military and national economic value, which the government has hertofore declared to be essential. A highway of military value is held to be one used regularly for the transportation of military supplies, for the movement of army truck trains, or which is necessary to the efficient operation of a military cantonment, post or plant. A highway of national economic value is held to be one which facilitates the output or movement of munitions and war supplies, relieves the congestion of railroad lines, gives access to or promotes the output of products needed by the nation to a marked degree, or furthers housing operations undertaken by the federal government or agencies having government approval.

If such a distinct classification of essential highway projects had been previously made, many needed improvements which have been disapproved by the Capital Issues Committee might now be under way; housing for workers employed in the shipyards at Los Angeles harbor would be further advanced and facilities for transportation of shipyard workers compelled to live in the city, would be greatly improved. But the Capital Issues Committee still has the last word and projects approved by the United States Highway Council must await consideration by the committee. Public improvements move slowly enough when all the preliminary steps are expedited. Further vexatious delays might be avoided, either by giving the Highway Council full power to proceed with such improvements as it deems essential, or creating another body with such powers to take charge of highway work during the war.
